

(2) The railway servant giving permission under sub-section (1) shall arrange for the separation of the person suffering from such disease from other persons in the train and such person shall be carried in the train subject to such other conditions as may be prescribed.

(3) Any person who enters or remains in any carriage or travels in a train without permission as required under sub-section (1) or in contravention of any condition prescribed under sub-section (2) such person and a person accompanying him shall be liable to the forfeiture of their passes or tickets and removal from railway by any railway servant.

Comment

Section 56 provides for the manner in which the person suffering from infectious or contagious disease may enter or travel in a carriage.

57. Maximum number of passenger for each compartment.- Subject to the approval of the Central Government, every railway administration shall fix the maximum number of passengers which may be carried in each compartment of every description of carriage, and shall exhibit the number so fixed in a conspicuous manner inside or outside each compartment in Hindi, English and also in one or more of the regional languages commonly in use in the areas served by the railway.

Comment

Section 57 empowers a railway administration to fix the maximum number of passengers which may be carried in each compartment.

58. Earmarking of compartment, etc. for ladies. – Every railway administration shall, in every train carrying passengers, earmark for the exclusive use of females, one compartment or such number of berths or seats as the railway administration may think fit.

Comment

Section 58 empowers a railway administration to earmark compartments, berths or seats in every train for exclusive use of females.

59. Communications between passengers and railway servant in charge of train. – A railway administration shall provide and maintain in every train carrying passengers, such efficient means of communication between the passengers and the railway servant in charge of the train as may be approved by the Central Government.

Provided that the railway administration is satisfied that the means of communication provided in a train are being misused, it may cause such means to be disconnected in that train for such period as it thinks fit:

Provided further that the Central Government may specify the circumstances under which a railway administration may be exempted from providing such means of communication in any train.

Comment

Section 59 enjoins on a railway administration a duty to provide and maintain efficient means of communication between passengers and the railway servants in charge of the train.

60. Power to make rules in respect of matters in this Chapter.- (1) The Central Government may, by notification, make rules to carry out the purposes of this Chapter.

(2) In particular, and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules provide for all or any of the following matters, namely:-

- (a) the convenience and accommodation (including the reservation of seats or berths in trains) to passengers.
 - (b) The amount of refund for the cancellation of a ticket;
 - (c) The circumstances under which change of names of passengers, having reserved seats or berths, may be permitted;
 - (d) The carriage of luggage and the conditions subject to which luggage may be kept in the cloak rooms at the stations.
 - (e) Diseases which are infections or contagious;
 - (f) The conditions subject to which a railway administration may carry passengers suffering from infectious or contagious diseases and the manner in which carriages used by such passengers may be disinfected;
 - (g) Generally, for regulating the traveling upon, and the use, working and management of the railways.
- (3) Any rule made under this section may provide that a contravention thereof shall be punishable with the fine which shall not exceed five hundred rupees.